

Two papers published last year described the analysis of DNA of Neandertals found in Vindija Cave, Croatia and DNA of a hominin from Denisova Cave, Siberia. I briefly describe the main results, but then go into more detail on the analysis which uses some novel methodology.