

Electronic Seminar on Mathematics Education

Tuning Your Remote Mathematics Teaching

Maria Andersen
Westminster College

Dr. Maria Andersen is the CEO of Coursetune. She has spent most of her career teaching at the college level and developing digital products for learning. For ten years she taught chemistry and mathematics full-time at Muskegon Community College and now she teaches Math and Education courses for Westminster College in Salt Lake City. Dr. Andersen's life mission has been to improve learning and assessment in Higher Education.

Remote teaching in mathematics is better than lots of in-person math teaching. Dr. Andersen has been remote teaching for over a decade. She will be sharing tips and pedagogical techniques for improving your remote teaching skills and conducting active learning in remote sessions with students.
